

Web-based billing application that is used to calculate the cost of internet cafe using the PHP programming language

NPM: 30401229

KKP, Information Management, 2005

STMIK Jakarta STI & K

<http://www.jak-stik.ac.id>

Keywords: application, billing, web, php

Abstract:

Limitation of problems in this paper is the author trying to create a web-based billing application that is used to calculate the cost of internet cafe computer using the PHP programming language for applications, and uses MySQL for the database report. The purpose of this paper is the author trying to create a program that can assist in the process of calculating the cost of rent in cafes and also to help the manufacturing documentation or report transactions using a dynamic database.

