ABSTRACT- Writing is a process of expressing feelings, thoughts, and ideas in the form of graphic language and it is one of English skills that should be mastered by the English language learners (Harmer, 2004; Meyers, 2005). To develop and improve students’ writing skill, diary can be used as one of teaching media (Ningrum, Rita & Hastini, 2013). The paper presents a preliminary study on developing the writing skill of the students by diary writing habit. The participants in the research are the 4th semester students, Teacher Training and Education Faculty, English Education Program, Bandar Lampung University. It is found that the habit is useful to develop the students’ writing skill.

Keywords: Writing skill, writing diary, English skill, teaching media,

1. INTRODUCTION
Writing is a process of expressing feelings, thoughts, and ideas in the form of graphic language and it is one of English skills that should be mastered by the English language learners (Harmer, 2004; Meyers, 2005). According to Ningrum, Rita and Hastini (2013), to develop and improve students’ writing skill, diary can be used as one of teaching media. By writing diary in English, the students can practice writing English. In the diary, they can write about anything in daily life. The research, then, focus on developing the students’ writing skill by diary writing habit in Teacher Training and Education Faculty, English Education Program, Bandar Lampung University. It is a preliminary study and take some students as the participants.

2. MATERIALS AND METHOD
The participants are four students (DW, RS, KR, and YP) at the fourth semester, Teacher Training and Education Faculty, English Education Program, Bandar Lampung University. DW and RS are in experimental group, and the others, KR and YP, are in control group. The data were collected from the following tests:

- a. Pre-test, to find out their writing before the treatment given.
- b. Post-test, to find out their writing after the treatment given.

The treatment is asking the students in the experimental group to write diary for seven days. In the control group, the students are not asked to write the diary. In the pre-test and post-test, the students are asked to write a recount text. Those texts are scored by following the scoring rubric of writing given in Table 1 (Ningrum, Rita & Hastini, 2013:6). Thus, both tests were conducted to measure the students’ improvement in writing skill and to know the effectiveness of diary writing as a teaching medium.

3. RESULT AND DISCUSSION

The mean scores for the writing components evaluated from the students’ writing in the pre-test and post test for both experimental and control groups are shown in Table 2 and Table 3 respectively. From the total of the mean scores, it is seen that in the pre-test, the experimental group has lower scores than the control group (10,5<11), but in the post-test, it is higher (13,5>11). It is seen that writing diary has good influence on the students’ writing.

Then, students’ scores are calculated with the following formula:

\[ S = \frac{T}{M \times 100} \]

Where \( S \) is score, \( T \) is total, and \( M \) is maximum score.

Since the maximum score is 15, then the score in each group can be calculated. The result is given in Table 4 and Table 5.

Further, t-test is conducted to see if the influence is significant in the experimental group by following the formula (Arikunto, 2010).

\[ t = \frac{\text{Md}}{\sqrt{\frac{\sum d^2}{N (N-1)}}} \]

\[ \text{Md} = \frac{\text{Mean score}}{\sqrt{\sum d^2}} \]

Where: \( \text{Md} \): Mean score

\[ \sum d : \text{The total score of deviation.} \]

\( N \): Number of students

Square deviation is calculated by using formula.

\[ \sum d^2 = \frac{\sum x^2d - (\sum x)^2}{N} \]

Where:

\( \sum x^2d \): The sum of square deviation

\( \sum d \): The sum of deviation

Mean deviation is calculated with the following formula.

\[ \text{Md} = \frac{\sum d}{N} \]

\( \text{As seen in Table 6, it is found that the influence is significant (t-value > t-table).} \)
