Abstract:

Computer system is a tool to ease the job done little humans, although all the tools of any kind, will not work properly if the human factor or the individual users do not use the tool. So also with the system, as well as any system we make, but if there are elements of the system is not working then the system will walk haltingly or even destroyed.

Therefore hoped that the lending system that has made this book can help restructure the lending system that already exists, and hopefully even better. And need to be reminded also that the human factor as one element of the system is very decisive in the passage of a system.

The author also makes no promises that this lending system can overcome the problems of borrowing books in AL-Hikmah Mosque as a whole, at least able to increase the service and can control the circulation of good books.
