THEORITICAL FRAMEWORK

2.1. Definition of Speech Acts

Speech Acts is an utterance to explain how speaker use language to accomplish intended actions and how the hearers infer intended meaning from what is said. Speech act performs when people make utterances such as compliment, greeting, request, complaint, invitation, apologize, or refusal. The study of speech act is very importance for us. Hence, Yule (1996:47) as cited in Herman (2015:43) stated that when people speak a language, they will perform an action. Actions which are performed via utterances are generally called speech acts. The one importance of studying speech act is to make us comprehend what message that discovered in every utterance. Speech act also decided by the language ability of speaker to convey the message in communication. Hence, we can understand about the meaning of speech act clearly. According to Austin (1962:199) as cited in Herman (2015:43) defined that the utterances of the speaker can be divided into three meanings, they are Locutionary act, illocutionary act, and perlocutionary act.

2.2 Types of Speech Acts

Based on theory of Austin, speech acts is categorized into three types. Should be clear we can discuss one by one.

1. Locutionary Act

Locutionary act is the basic act of utterance, or producing a meaningful linguistic expression. In other words, locutionary act can be defined as the act of making a meaning full utterance and using a referring expression. The speaker usually uses the identifiable expression to produce a meaningful expression to the hearer. In other words, locutionary act is an act to produce meaningful and understandable utterances. Every utterance expressed is meaningful and understandable so the utterance will be identified further to decide if it is illocutionary act or perlocutionary act. The speaker who tounge untangle can’t speak properly so he or she failed in making locutionary act because the language is not understandable. In short, Locutionary act is the actual form of words used by the speaker and their semantic meaning (directly uttered).

2. Illocutionary Act

Illocutionary act is a complete speech act, an act of doing something which means the specific purpose of the speaker’s intention in mind such as promising, stating, commanding, denial, prediction, request, confirming, etc. There are five types of Illocutionary act, representative, directive, commissive, declarative, and expressive. Should be clear we can discuss each of type.

✓ Representatives

Kinds of speech act that state what the speaker believes to be the case or not. It can be statements of fact, assertions, conclusions and descriptions. In using a representative, the speaker makes words fit the world (of belief). The examples would be: affirm, believe, conclude, report.

✓ Directives

Kinds of speech act that the speakers use to get someone else to do something. They express what the speaker wants. They are commands, order, requests, and suggestions. In using a directive, the speaker attempts to make the world fit the words (via hearer). Shortly, directive is the speaker try to do something. The examples would be: ask, challenge, command and request.

- Commissive
  Kinds of speech act that speakers use to commit themselves to some future action. They are promises, threats, refusals, pledges and they can perform by the speaker alone or by the speaker as a member of a group. In using a commissive, the speaker undertakes to make the world fit the words (via the speaker). The examples would be: bet, guarantee, pledge, promise, swear, etc.

- Expressive
  Kinds of speech act that state what the speaker feels. They express psychological states and can be statements of pleasure, pain, likes, dislikes, joy or sorrow. They can be caused by something the speaker does or the hearer does but they are about the speaker’s experience.

- Declaration
  Kinds of speech act that change the world via their utterance. In using a declaration, the speaker changes the world via words.

  Example:
  Priest: I now pronounce you husband and wife.

3. Perlocutionary Act

Perlocutionary act is the reaction of the hearer, the consequences of something, intended or not. The effect after the speaker says something to the hearer; an act is performed as a reaction. The action of the hearer depends on what the speaker says. The effects may be actions, thoughts or feelings.
