1. INTRODUCTION

The Famotu Ono Nihalo custom has been upheld by the people of Nias, particularly in Gunungsitoli, for a considerable amount of time as a priceless cultural legacy. This custom serves as a thank you for all of the favors received and a show of respect for ancestors. Famotu Ono Nihalo has expressions that are loaded with messages and meaning beneath her sparkle. The secret to enhancing tradition's essence and keeping it alive in the contemporary period is to comprehend the meaning underlying these terms. Indonesia, with its wealth of cultural diversity, has a great deal of meaningful customs and rituals that support the lofty aspirations of the Nias people, who want to create a link between their predecessors and their offspring.

The ceremony of Famotu Ono Nihalo is intricate and significant. It consists of a number of components, such as prayers, sacrifices, and words said by the community and traditional officials. These aren't just words; they have a deeper significance and represent the ideals that are important to Nias culture. According to Verawati Br. Matondang (2017), Famotu Ono Nihalo is a medium for transmitting Nias cultural values to the next generation, especially to women. The cultural values instilled through this tradition are expected to be a guideline for Nias women in living a harmonious and prosperous household life. Erniwati Sitompul (2018), Famotu Ono Nihalo is a tradition full of meaning and cultural values of Nias. This tradition contains moral and ethical messages that are expected to be upheld by the bride in living her married life.

The purpose of this study is to explain the meaning of terms used in Gunungsitoli, Nias, in the context of the application of Famotu Ono Nihalo. Among the many factors that drove our research was the significance of Famotu Ono Nihalo as a customary practice for the Nias people. According to Margareta Meiwati Laia (2024), Famotu Ono Nihalo is a series of advice delivered to Nias brides in the form of traditional expressions containing cultural values and morality. These pieces of advice aim to guide the bride in carrying out her role as a wife and mother in a Nias household. In addition to strengthening the bond between ancestors and offspring, this ceremony helps members of the family and community feel more unified and cohesive. Even though Famotu Ono Nihalo has been the subject of numerous studies, there are still not many that concentrate particularly on the significance of the terms employed in this ceremony. Gaining a deeper grasp of Nias culture can be facilitated by learning the meanings behind expressions like Famotu Ono Nihalo. This knowledge can also contribute to the enrichment and preservation of Nias customs and cultural treasures owned by the people of Indonesia.

Nestled within the rich tapestry of Nias culture lays Famotu Ono Nihalo, a time-honored tradition practiced during weddings in Gunungsitoli. This ceremony transcends a mere exchange of vows; it's a poignant moment where female elders impart wisdom and guidance to the bride, illuminating her path towards a fulfilling married life.

Our exploration delves into the profound meaning hidden within the expressions used during Famotu Ono Nihalo. We will embark on a journey to understand how these words, imbued with cultural significance, serve as a roadmap for the bride, equipping her with the virtues and values essential for navigating the complexities of marriage and motherhood.

This analysis will not only unveil the symbolic layers of these expressions but also shed light on how experts interpret their significance within the broader context of Niasese culture. Through this examination, we gain a deeper appreciation for Famotu Ono Nihalo's role in preserving traditions and shaping the lives of Niasese women.

2. METHOD

The qualitative research approach employed in this study provided a rich and nuanced understanding of the meaning and significance of expressions used during Famotu Ono Nihalo. By combining observation, interviews, and document analysis, the research delved into the cultural context, symbolic meaning, and personal experiences associated with this important Nias wedding tradition. The findings of this research contribute to a deeper appreciation of Nias culture and the role of Famotu Ono Nihalo in preserving cultural heritage and values. Merriam & Tisdall (2022) provides a comprehensive guide to qualitative research methodology, including data collection, data analysis, and interpretation of findings. Tracy (2023) provides an easy-to-understand introduction to qualitative research methodology, focusing on various types of qualitative research and their applications.

3. RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Nias culture is the age-old custom of Famotu Ono Nihalo, which is observed at weddings in Gunungsitoli. This ceremony is more than just an exchange of vows; it's a moving occasion where the bride receives insight and direction from female elders, guiding her on the way to a happy married life.

Our investigation explores the deep significance that lies beneath the phrases used during Famotu Ono Nihalo. We will set out on a quest to discover how these words, rich in cultural connotations, function as a guide for the bride, bestowing upon her the virtues and ideals necessary to successfully negotiate the challenges of marriage and motherhood.

In addition to revealing the symbolic depths of these statements, this research will provide insight into the ways in which scholars understand their meaning in relation to the larger Niasese cultural background. This analysis helps us understand Famotu Ono Nihalo's significance in upholding customs and influencing Niasese women's lives.

3.2 Types of Famotu Ono Nihalo and the Meaning of Their Expressions

A significant Nias wedding custom called Famotu Ono Nihalo provides insight into the philosophy and cultural values of the Nias people. Famotu Ono Nihalo is a reflection of life's journey, love and respect, and optimism for the future. It is more than just a wedding custom.

The expressions in Famotu Ono Nihalo are more than just words; they have profound symbolic significance. They express the Nias people's expectations for a happy and long-lasting married life, as well as their cultural beliefs and customs.

We may more fully understand the meaning of these expressions with the aid of semantic theory. According to this theory, a word or expression's meaning is influenced by both its literal definition and the context in which it is employed.

Table 1. Distribution of the phrase "Famotu" in the Nias Traditional Wedding Ceremony.

Types	Meaning	Language	Pronunciation	Proverb	Symbolism
Famotu Me	I was cut off	Nias language (gunungsitoli dialect)	Full of emotion and happiness	Famofu ba gae ba woga	Leaving the family and starting a new life
Famotu Ina	Cutting the umbilical cord for ina (mother)	Nias language (gunungsitoli dialect)	Full of emotion and affection ina	Ba woga, ama ba gae	Express gratitude and respect to mother
Famotu Ama	Cutting the umbilical cord for ama (father)	Nias language (gunungsitoli dialect)	Full of respect and obedience	Ama ba woga, ina ba gae	Asking for father's blessing to start a new life
Famotu Adat	Obey the customs seriously	Nias language (gunungsitoli dialect)	Full of seriousness and responsibility	-	Respect nias cultural values and customs

The labels "major" and "minor" are not strictly used to indicate the relative importance of various parts or activities in the ceremony; rather, they are employed in the context of the traditional Nias wedding rite, "Famotu Ono Nihalo." Instead, the terms refer to the general framework and sequence of the ceremony.

a. Major (Faamajoru)

The principal or focal elements of the Famotu Ono Nihalo ceremony are referred to as "faamajoru" (major). These include the primary rites and symbolic acts that embody the spirit of the custom. The most important and crucial components of the wedding process are thought to be the faamajoru aspects. Examples of Faamajoru Elements:

- Famotu Me: The bride's symbolic separation from her family and transition to married life.
- Famotu Ina: The bride's expression of gratitude and respect to her mother.
- Famotu Ama: The bride's request for her father's blessing and permission to marry.
- Famotu Adat: The couple's adherence to Nias customary practices and traditions.
- Famotu Ono Nihalo: The symbolic sacrifice of an animal, representing the couple's commitment to each other and their new family.

b. Minor (Faaminoru)

The supplemental or complimentary elements of the Famotu Ono Nihalo ceremony are referred to as "faaminoru" (minor). These consist of the different traditions, etiquette, and cultural practices that make the whole richer and more complex. The significance of the faaminoru parts is acknowledged, but not as much as that of the wedding ritual's fundamental meaning. Examples of Faaminoru Elements:

- Traditional attire: The bride, groom, and other participants wearing Nias customary clothing.
- Gifts and exchanges: The exchange of gifts between the bride's and groom's families.
- Festivities and celebrations: The communal feasting, music, and dancing that accompany the wedding.
- Customary speeches and blessings: The formal addresses and blessings bestowed upon the couple by elders and community leaders.

In Famotu Ono Nihalo, the difference between "faamajoru" and "faaminoru" has nothing to do with giving any particular element more or less weight. Instead, it draws attention to the ways in which the several elements that comprise this deep and significant customary wedding ceremony are interwoven. The cultural and general importance of Famotu Ono Nihalo in Nias society is influenced by both the faamajoru and faaminoru aspects.

4. CONCLUSION

A deeply ingrained tradition that is carried out during weddings in Gunungsitoli called Famotu Ono Nihalo provides a glimpse into the essence of Nias culture. It's a moving ritual that involves more than simply exchanging vows; the bride gains knowledge and insight from female elders, preparing her for a happily married life.

This investigation explores the deep significance that lies within the phrases used during Famotu Ono Nihalo. We set out on a quest to learn how these culturally rich words provide the bride with a sense of direction and instill in her the values and virtues she needs to face the trials of marriage and parenting.

The idea of "major" and "minor" components does not denote the relative importance of particular components within the event. Rather, it explains Famotu Ono Nihalo's general organization. The ritual is made richer and more intricate by the addition of both supplemental ("faaminoru") elements, such as traditional clothing, and fundamental elements ("faamajoru"), such as "Famotu Me."

The powerful icon of Nias culture is Famotu Ono Nihalo. We may grasp the significance of the Nias people, their values, and their wishes for a happy future for their newlyweds by deciphering the meaning behind their expressions. It serves as a reminder of how crucial it is to maintain the cultural customs that bind us to our ancestry and communities.
